Salem, OR – August 3, 2016 – New Shepherd Films, LLC announced today that their upcoming feature film, Forgotten Heroes will produced in association with C3 Entertainment, Inc. Previously, C3 had agreed to distributing this latest release.

“Every production needs to be better than the last. That means Forgotten Heroes needs to be better in every aspect from our first film, Footprints. Getting to the next level is one thing but with C3 becoming part of the team, that takes us several more levels above that. We’re honored they see so much potential in this story and our ability to tell it.”, says Jim Huggins, New Shepherd Films’ President/CEO. “Things like this don’t normally happen to small indies like us—we see this as real blessing”, Huggins added.

Forgotten Heroes is the true story of SSgt Robert Hartsock, the only military working dog handler to have ever received the Medal of Honor, and his dog Duke. Set in Vietnam, Forgotten Heroes tells the true story of one man’s impact on the lives of everyone around him in 1969 and his continuing legacy today. With over 10,000 American lives having been saved by over 4,000 dogs and their handlers, it’s time to tell the story. The film project also includes a documentary being produced by New Shepherd Films and a novel being adapted to print by writer/director Jim Huggins.
